1 Presentations about kings and queens

Choose the correct relative pronouns. There can be more than one correct answer.

My classmates and I made presentations which / who were about different kings and queens. I spoke about a king that / who lived 500 years ago. My friend George made a presentation about kings who / whose live around the world now. Mary was the person that / whose presentation I liked best. She talked about the homes that / which kings and queens live in today.

2 People at school

Gwen is new at TTS and she is trying to remember her classmates' names. Complete her thoughts with who, which or whose.

Let's see. Jay is the boy who is good at Art, and Holly is the girl _____ loves pink. Olivia is the girl _____ older sister always wears black clothes. Oh no, that's not right – it's Holly's sister _____ always wears black. Olivia is the girl _____ plays the saxophone. And Dave is the boy _____ mother is a vet. Dave's best friend is Luke – they're the boys _____ sat next to me in History. Now History is a subject _____ I'm not usually interested in, but Luke's presentation was fantastic. I loved the story _____ he told us about Queen Mary and Christopher Wren!

3 An e-mail to Jay

Find four relative pronouns that you do not need in this e-mail.

Tipp:

Is the word after the relative pronoun a verb? Then the relative pronoun is a subject and you need it!

Dear Jay,

My new school is great. There are so many clubs and so many activities that you can do. People who like music and art love the school. And there's one club that everyone likes: the Dance Club. The teacher who organises it once danced in a Bollywood film! She's the teacher who I like best here – you know I love Bollywood! There are Science and Technology Clubs too for people who enjoy those things – not me! There's one other club that I think is interesting: the Camera Club. They go on trips and take great photos.

Well, how are you, Jay? And how is Shahid?

George
